Summary

I'm currently studying full-stack web development, where I'm gaining hands-on experience in both front-end and back-end technologies. My passion lies in building user-friendly, responsive websites and applications that solve real-world problems. I have a strong foundation in HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and I'm continuously expanding my knowledge of frameworks like React, Node.js, and databases such as MongoDB and SQL.

I'm eager to apply my skills in a professional setting and am actively seeking internship opportunities and junior developer roles where I can learn, grow, and contribute to exciting projects. Let's connect if you're looking for a motivated developer ready to dive into the tech industry!
